

Civil Liberties: Reading Questions II

Read pages 546-551 of Magruder's American Government and respond to each of the following questions in several well-crafted paragraphs.

1. What are the 2 basic purposes of the 1st Amendment's guarantee of free speech?
2. Free speech is not absolute. Briefly discuss each of the following free speech limitations: a) libel and slander; b) seditious speech (i.e. so-called "clear and present dangers"); and c) obscenity.
3. What is "prior restraint" of the media and how has the Supreme Court generally dealt with cases involving claims of "prior restraint"?
4. Why has the Supreme Court been more willing to impose free speech restrictions on television and radio than it has on movies and the press?
5. What is "symbolic speech"? Why is it sometimes afforded less protection than "pure speech"?
6. Write your own analytical question based on any of the ideas explored in the reading. Then answer it.

Civil Liberties: Reading Questions II

Read pages 546-551 of Magruder's American Government and respond to each of the following questions in several well-crafted paragraphs.

1. What are the 2 basic purposes of the 1st Amendment's guarantee of free speech?
2. Free speech is not absolute. Briefly discuss each of the following free speech limitations: a) libel and slander; b) seditious speech (i.e. so-called "clear and present dangers"); and c) obscenity.
3. What is "prior restraint" of the media and how has the Supreme Court generally dealt with cases involving claims of "prior restraint"?
4. Why has the Supreme Court been more willing to impose free speech restrictions on television and radio than it has on movies and the press?
5. What is "symbolic speech"? Why is it sometimes afforded less protection than "pure speech"?
6. Write your own analytical question based on any of the ideas explored in the reading. Then answer it.